11TH ARMoured DIVISION, 29TH ARMoured BRIGADE

23RD HUSSARS SHERMAN IC FIREFLY "C" SQUADRON

11th Armoured Division

The 11th Armoured Division had not seen battle prior to Normandy. It's first battles were during Operation Epsom where it's inexperience showed but during Operation Goodwood the division fought well and stood up to the elite 1st SS-Panzer. During Operation Blue Coat the Division found an intact bridge on the Souleuvre river, which enabled it to drive the Germans back. In the famous "Charge of the Bull," the division liberated Le Bény-Bocage and quickly progressed southward. The armoured component was the 29th Armoured Brigade.
